

LexisNexis® Media Intelligence

Drive communication and business strategy through deep media insights.

Distill Relevance in the Expanse of Media Data

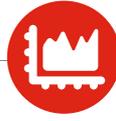

Every minute, millions of pieces of content are created: articles published, videos uploaded, photos posted, reviews written, comments made and stories told. Information is being shared at an exponentially increasing rate. How can you avoid information overload and drill down to what's relevant to you?

With LexisNexis Media Intelligence solutions, cut through the noise to uncover the information that really matters. Learn what's being said about your brand, benchmark against others, and gain powerful insight about where to shape the direction of your company.

Stay in the Know

Monitor what's happening with your brand, competitors and market, leveraging millions of articles and posts daily, curated specifically to meet your needs.

Analyze Performance

Leverage visual data to assess what's being said about your brand, what it means to your business, how your campaigns are performing, and how you stack up against competitors.

Identify Trends Quickly

Make strategic decisions about important and trending topics, potential risks and new opportunities for your business.

Share Relevant Insights

Promote insights both internally and externally to create awareness, inspire action, and capitalize on successes.

Unmatched Content. Purposeful Curation.

We are data experts. We've been working with information for decades, and are passionate about innovating new ways to harness its power. We ensure the most complete data sets on the market, including licensed content, so you can be confident you aren't missing anything.

But it's more than just data.

Our team of specialists process, categorize, and enhance the information, giving you the power to filter, analyze and manipulate it against a range of factors important to your business.
